

Air Canada Cargo safely transports animals of all sizes, worldwide!

There's no question about it. Your live animals are a precious commodity. That's why at Air Canada Cargo, our first priority when shipping livestock is safety and comfort - whether shipping across North America or the world. Many of our aircraft, on regularly scheduled routes, are capable of accommodating large shipments of live animals. Special attention is given to livestock with specially-built containers which ensure the animal's safety during transportation and provide efficient loading and offloading. And, our expert personnel put years of expertise in the transportation of live animals at your disposal. They attend constantly to their needs, from the moment they board the aircraft at our cargo terminal to the time they are offloaded at destination.
